

Plaud launches Plaud Note Pro: The world's first AI note-taker enabling real-time human-AI alignment.

San Francisco, August 27, 2025 –Plaud, the world’s No.1 AI note-taker brand, today launches Plaud Note Pro — the world’s first AI note-taker enabling real-time human-AI alignment. Built on the belief that every conversation holds intelligence — where ideas are born, decisions take shape, and meaning comes alive — Plaud Note Pro transforms those moments into actionable insights, instantly.

Plaud introduced the world's first and No.1 AI note-taker (by sales volume), the Plaud Note, followed by the Plaud NotePin, the most wearable AI note-taker. Plaud products capture audio with studio-grade clarity, transcribe it, and generate structured summaries, mind maps, and action items with professional templates. This enables millions of professionals to stay present in conversations, confident that every idea is captured to enhance productivity and collaboration across teams.

The newly launched Plaud Note Pro features a brand new human-machine interaction to achieve real-time human-AI alignment. The on-device "Press to highlight" feature represents the world's first method for humans to align with LLMs to capture key ideas and decisions in real-time, enabling Plaud to understand context and prioritize actions.

- Engineered for professional excellence, the Plaud Note Pro delivers studio-quality audio capture up to 16.4 ft away through 4 precision MEMS microphones with AI beamforming technology, all housed in a credit-card-sized design (0.11 inches thick and weighing only 1.05 ounces).
- As the pioneer of dual-mode recording technology, Plaud Note Pro's Smart Dual Mode Recording now can automatically detect between phone calls and meetings, ensuring seamless recording for all scenarios.
- With optimized battery life, Plaud Note Pro supports up to 50 hours of continuous recording, empowering week-long meetings on a single charge.

At the heart of all Plaud note-takers is Plaud Intelligence, the AI engine to transform conversations into organized, searchable, and actionable insights. Through dynamic routing across OpenAI, Anthropic and Google's latest and smartest LLMs, Plaud crafted professional-grade offerings, including over 2,000 templates, AI Suggestions, and Ask Plaud, etc. These advanced capabilities are delivered through the Plaud App (available for both iOS and Android users) and the Plaud Web. This time, together with the launch of Plaud Note Pro, Plaud introduces exciting updates to its Plaud Intelligence.

Key new updates include:

- Multimodal input: Capture audio, text, images, and "press to highlight" for richer context, resulting in more comprehensive summaries and a deeper understanding of every conversation.
- Multidimensional Summaries: Plaud will analyze discussions across multiple dimensions, providing richer insights and clearer understanding.
- Ask Plaud: Turn every question into a trustworthy answer powered by the world's most advanced LLMs. Every answer is grounded in reference and can be traced back to your original audio. New features include smart suggestions, search across all files, and the ability to save answers as notes with complete context.

These updates will be available with the Plaud App 3.0 version updates supporting all Plaud products in October. This new version will feature a completely redesigned interface that streamlines multimodal interactions and ensures seamless navigation across all intelligence features.

"We believe conversation is a form of intelligence," said Nathan XU, Co-founder & CEO of Plaud. "For the first time, Plaud's unique 'Press to highlight' feature enables humans to signal to AI what matters most in real time, achieving true human-AI alignment so insights remain accurate, actionable, and aligned with your intent."

Availability and Pricing:

- Plaud Note Pro is priced at $179, pre-order via the official website, available across the US, UK, Germany, France, Italy, Spain, and other selected European regions. Shipping begins in October.
- Plaud App 3.0 version will be available via update on iOS, Android for all Plaud users globally in early October.
